We believe the access guide is for everyone

The access guide is a resource for all visitors to the university. It's used by students, but it's also for the proud grandparents coming to visit, the rugby player that's broken their leg, the elderly professor with the walking stick, and the young academic with the pushchair.

Of course, it's also very useful for curious visitors and students who want to plan ahead...

The Team

Niall

Martha

We are currently working on the access guide. As wheelchair users who have studied and worked here, we reckon we have a pretty good idea of some of the challenges and opportunities facing disabled students in Oxford.
You may well see us out and about 'round Oxford, taking photos of things like stairs and doors... Please say hi and have a chat, or email us with any thoughts, queries or comments about the guide.

We would really like to hear from you...

This is a new venture and we need to know what you want! On every page in the access guide, there is a simple feedback form or email link to let us know what you think, both positive and negative.
